(LINK INCLUDES FREE CD ROM)

Wednesday, February 22, 2012

12 - 1:30 pm PT
1 - 2:30 pm MT
2 - 3:30 pm CT
3 - 4:30 pm ET

Do you know how the latest cyber-attack vectors are successfully defeating standard authentication controls and putting your business customer's financial transactions and NPI at risk? Now is the time to educate key personnel involved with cash management, treasury management, IT, and information security on the latest trends in online banking risk management and compliance strategies. Learn how new strategies and additional layers of authentication controls will mitigate risk to commercial account takeover, improve your financial institution's overall security posture, and meet the recent FFIEC Supplementary Authentication Guidance compliance objectives.

Continuing Education: Attendance verification for CE credits provided upon request.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Understand the steps involved with Commercial Account Takeover and the new ways that sophisticated criminals are bypassing controls
- How to create internal strategies for your bank to stay one-step ahead of current and future cyber-attacks
- Learn the best ways to educate business customers on their role in protecting financial transactions and NPI
- Inform personnel about available resources to strengthen security strategies

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?
